Feelings

GoZen!

FEELINGS

This journal belongs to:

Get Free Printables Every Week at GoZen.com/printables/
FEELING YOUR FEELINGS

If you've ever had a challenging feeling that you don't know how to deal with, this journal is for you! The following pages go over 5 steps to help you navigate big feelings!

#1 WHAT'S THE FEELING?
Put a name to what you're feeling.

#2 WHERE'S THE FEELING?
Find where the feeling shows up in your body.

#3 WHEN DO YOU HAVE THE FEELING?
Figure out what situations bring up the feeling.

#4 WELCOME THE FEELING!
Accept the feeling instead of ignoring it.

#5 WORDS FROM YOUR FEELINGS.
Listen to the message your feeling is sending.

GoZen.com/printables/
Do you ever have feelings that are hard to deal with? Circle at least 3 of those challenging feelings below. You might be surprised to learn that all feelings have a purpose and can even be helpful! Focus on 1 of the feelings you circled throughout this journal. :)

Angry
Annoyed
Bored
Calm
Confident
Confused
Curious
Disappointed
Embarrassed
Excited
Focused
Guilty
Happy
Lonely
Proud
Sad
Scared
Shy
Sick
Silly
Strong
Surprised
Tired
Worried

GoZen.com/printables/
FEELINGS ABOUT YOUR FEELINGS

Have you ever thought about how you feel about certain feelings?
Focus on 1 challenging feeling and answer the questions.

Feeling:

How hard is this feeling to deal with?

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Easy Way too hard

Do you feel like this feeling is helpful in your life?

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Really helpful Totally unhelpful

Do you wish to have more of less of this feeling?

0 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
More Less or None

What's one good thing that's come from this feeling?
(Example: My anger made me speak up for myself.)

GoZen.com/printables/
#2: WHERE'S THE FEELING?

Feelings show up in different parts of the body. Where do you feel your feeling? Do you feel your stomach flipping or your hands clenching?

Use colors to show where your feelings are and if they are hot or cold.

Example

GoZen.com/printables/
Notice what your body is doing! When you feel a feeling, you probably notice different sensations. Circle what you’re feeling and draw your own!

MY FEELING:

WHAT MY BODY IS DOING:

- Sweating
- Heart racing
- Butterflies in my stomach
- Tightness in my body
- Trembling
- Shallow breathing
- Feeling hot or cold
- Feeling dizzy

GoZen.com/printables/
BODY LANGUAGE!

What do your body and face look like when you have certain feelings? Look at the examples and create your own!

Jealous
- Squinting eyes
- Pouting mouth
- Eyebrow raised
- Arms crossed
- Jealous

Nervous
- Chattering teeth
- Hands on chest
- Eyebrows lifted
- Nervous

GoZen.com/printables/
#2 WHEN DO YOU HAVE THE FEELING?

Get to know what situations come right before you have certain feelings. Fill in real examples below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Before (Situation)</th>
<th>Feeling</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Example: My brother went into my room without asking and took something.</td>
<td>Angry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Angry</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Annoyed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Bored</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Focused</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
WHEN DO YOU HAVE THE FEELING?

Get to know what situations come right before you have certain feelings. Fill in your feelings and examples below.

Before
(Situation)

Feeling
Welcoming your feelings means noticing them pop up without trying to change, ignore, or run away from them. Welcoming takes practice! Practice saying hi to your feelings like they are friends coming for a visit. Start your sentences with "I notice I feel..."

- I notice I feel angry. Come on in, anger.
- I notice I feel sad. Hi, sadness.
Try this: Pick a challenging feeling (anger, jealousy etc.). Set a timer for 2 minutes. Close your eyes and think about the last time you felt that way. What happened? Who was there? What was the scene? Visualize it in detail. See if you can bring the feeling up. Remember, you're safe. When you're done, write keywords about your experience.
When you welcome challenging feelings, sometimes you notice other feelings or thoughts pop up. What else do you feel? Circle feelings that come up for you and write in your own.

Lonely
Disrespected
Misunderstood
Forgotten
Frustrated
Blamed
Guilty
Left out
Tired
Feel your feelings, even if they're uncomfortable! Imagine you're an expert surfer and feelings are just waves you have to ride. You'll see some helpful sayings below to use when you have challenging feelings. Add in some of your own!

I notice I'm having a challenging feeling.
I can do hard things.

I'm riding the wave.
I am powerful.
These feelings are uncomfortable, but not dangerous.

GoZen.com/printables/
WELCOMING BEFORE REACTING

Welcoming your feeling means pausing and accepting the feeling before reacting.

Before | Feeling | Welcome | Reaction
--- | --- | --- | ---
Ex: My brother went into my room without asking and took something. | | I took a breath and said hi to my anger. It was uncomfortable, but I knew I was okay. | I went to talk to my brother about what happened.

Angry

Circle the feelings which are the most difficult to welcome (pause, accept, feel). What do you usually do instead of welcoming these feelings?

Instead of welcoming these feelings, I usually... (circle one!)

Ignore them
Distract myself
Hide them
React without thinking
Hope they disappear
Other:

GoZen.com/printables/
Practice Welcoming

Plan how you're going to welcome your challenging feelings before they arise. Fill out some scenarios below.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Before</th>
<th>Feeling</th>
<th>Welcome</th>
<th>Reaction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Before</th>
<th>Feeling</th>
<th>Welcome</th>
<th>Reaction</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

[GoZen.com/printables/]
#4: WORDS FROM YOUR FEELINGS

Even though feelings can't use words, they have a lot to say. They're sending messages and they want you to listen!

What is your feeling trying to tell you?

GoZen.com/printables/
Feelings are constantly sending our body and mind messages. If they could speak, they might sound something like this:

Angry

This situation feels unfair. Your boundaries are being crossed! You can ask for what you need.

Guilty

You behaved in a way you're not proud of. Check in to see if you need to repair a friendship or relationship.

Disappointed

Something turned out differently than you expected. Not getting what you expected feels bad.

Sad

You feel a loss and need relief. It's okay to cry. Be easy on yourself.

Worried

You need to perform right now--you need a little motivation!

GoZen.com/printables/
Imagine your feelings could talk and you could respond. Write out your conversation below!

Feeling

Me

Feeling

Me

What did you learn?
You may not be able to control your feelings, but you have power over your reaction. You can choose to do things that transform your feelings into empowerment.

- Grab a journal and write about how I feel.
- Draw or create a piece of art.
- Take a deep breath and exhale for 5-7 seconds.
- Splash some cold water on my face.
- Invert into a headstand (safely).
- Push against a wall.
- Think about how I overcame past challenges.
- Focus on one tiny good thing in my life.
- Figure out if it is a small, medium, or big problem.
- Take a break and try again.
- Talk to someone I respect.
- Talk to the person that upset me.
- Listen to my favorite song.
- Know that this is temporary.
- Write a letter expressing my feelings.
- Remember, I'm not alone.
- Thank someone I'm grateful for.
- Help someone with something they need.
- Sip some water.
- Reach out to a friend.
- Splash some cold water on my face.
- Remember, this isn't every part of my life.

GoZen.com/printables/
What are some ways you like to transform your feelings?
1. We want to reach as many families, teachers, therapists, kids, tweens, and teens as possible! Please let others know we’re sending out printables every week by sharing this page: https://gozen.com/printables/

2. For sharing with your community, we ask that you do not post this resource directly on your own website. We’d appreciate sharing our printables page with your community: https://gozen.com/printables/

3. Join us on our FREE Facebook group where we are sharing positive interventions, printables, and resilience techniques every day! Go here: https://facebook.com/groups/scienceofhappinessforkids/